Elevating Outdoor Living

THE Ardbouré COLLECTION

Elegance in every structure

Every Ardbouré structure is tailored to its environment and crafted to perform beautifully in the Irish climate. We combine European engineering with an Irish understanding of light, landscape, and lifestyle, creating timeless spaces that blur the boundaries between indoors and out.

At Ardbouré, we don't simply install structures; we design experiences, places of light, shelter, and serenity that enrich your home and your way of living.

Contemporary design and enduring craftsmanship

Ardbouré is dedicated to redefining outdoor living through elegant, architectural structures that unite beauty, comfort, and longevity.

From verandas and canopies to roof lights, garden rooms, and bespoke enclosures, each design blends contemporary refinement with the enduring craftsmanship that has long defined our family of companies.

Bespoke design & consultation tailored to you

Our design specialists work with homeowners, architects, and designers to create bespoke installations, from initial concept to final finish. Whether you envision a minimalist veranda or a fully enclosed garden retreat, we bring your vision to life with precision and care.liable technical expertise to bring your project to life.

The meaning behind Ardbouré

Ardboure comes from two words – "ard," the Irish for high or elevated, and "bour," from arbour, meaning a sheltered garden space.

Together they capture what our verandas are all about – elevating outdoor living. It's about creating a space that feels calm, comfortable, and connected to nature. A place to relax, share a coffee, or enjoy a quiet evening, somewhere that makes being outside feel as good as being in.

The Weathermaster Kerry Family

Ardbouré is part of the weathermaster kerry family, a name trusted across munster for more than thirty years for beautifully crafted conservatories, windows, and doors. that experience in shaping light, warmth, and comfort is the foundation of the ardbouré collection.
